Your case has been fully examined on the basis of the documentation submitted and it has been decided not to grant your application. No evidence of routine contact or financial support between the applicant and the reference has been provided. The granting of the visa may result in a cost to public funds. The granting of the visa may result in a cost to public resources. The onus will be on the applicants for family reunification to satisfy the immigration authorities that the familial relationship is as claimed. This is particularly important where children are involved. In certain cases where reasonable doubt exists, the parties may be asked to provide DNA evidence in support of the claimed relationship. Testing companies and authorities, and persons supervising testing and donation of samples, must be approved in advance by INIS but will be strictly independent in the conduct of the testing.

It must also be established that the dependency existed while the dependant was living in their home country. Applicant has not satisfied the qualifying criteria, as per 18.1 of the Policy Document on Family Reunification' where, The issue of elderly dependent parents has arisen in a number of cases involving both Irish and non-EEA national sponsors. This form of migration can, however, be hugely problematic and is subject to considerable restriction in many jurisdictions, in some cases with extreme waiting times. It is of course entirely understandable that an Irish citizen or a non-EEA national lawfully resident in the State would wish to have his or her elderly parent residing with them so as to ensure their wellbeing as they get older and for the general enrichment of family life. However, it must also be acknowledged that the potential financial liability for the State of providing medical treatment, perhaps nursing home care and other services to an elderly person who is unable to support themselves is very considerable.

Your case has been fully examined on the basis of the documentation submitted and it has been decided not to grant your application. Applicant does not meet the qualifying criteria, as per 14.1 of the Policy Document on Family Reunification', where, "Dependency" means that the family member is (i) supported financially by the sponsor on a continuous basis and (ii) that there is evidence of social dependency between the two parties. The degree of dependency must be such as to render independent living at a subsistence level by the family member in his/her home country impossible if that financial and social support were not maintained. A minor child living with its parents will be automatically assumed to be their dependant. Applicant does not meet the qualifying criteria, as per 14.2 of the Policy Document on Family Reunification', where, Adult persons who claim dependency are not persons of independent means, and vice versa. This is an important distinction from the points of view of both lodging and examining applications. Persons who claim dependency are saying that they rely for their subsistence on a family member who is resident in Ireland. Officials examining such applications must be satisfied - by the applicant - that the family member is actually dependent on the sponsor. Applicant does not meet the qualifying criteria, as per 14.3 of the Policy Document on Family Reunification', where, "dependency" for immigration purposes and in respect of an adult must be pre-existing and sustained prior to the making of the application for
